Hi Carl. How's your summer going? It looks like your daughter is a world traveler. How old is she? I just had a heart attack with my daughter moving to Miami at 23.

So, business. Apparently, I am being told to pick my alternate/s for my site. I've been working practically straight through since May 31st. Jimenez was "selected and directed" but now that Jim is going apparently Jimenez will be performing Jim's duties without officially "acting". Do you have any interest in helping me out at the site? A week here a week there. I would ask that you come up a few days earlier than my planned departure for some crossover. You are my first pick since you have experience at rad sites and I trust you. Please let me know.

Regards,

Eric
